

An Opportunity

In order to reduce our stock we will until February 1, make special prices on anything in our large Vehicle stock. Don't fail to see our $65 and $75 Buggies, they are worth $10 to $15 more than we are asking. Get a bargain before they are all gone

Kentucky Carriage Works
RICHMOND, KY
PHONE 232
C. F. Higgins, Prop

Peeble's Sweet Hickory Coffee Frasa Bros

SOLE AGENTS
MAIN STREET
PHONE 165

The Richmond Climax. M. & N. Laundry

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18 - 1905

—Tomorrow, January 19, will be the anniversary of Lee's birthday.

—Buy your heater from Shackelford & Co. for they sell the best. dec211

—Subscribe now for the CLIMAX in order to get our Illustrated Souvenir.

—FOR SALE—Old fashioned solid walnut folding couch. 18ja2

—WANTED—A lot of fat hogs and cattle. M. M. Hamilton, 21 Phone 484. Richmond, Ky.

—Have you a pretty residence? If so, we want it in our Souvenir Magazine. DO IT TO-DAY.

—Telephone R. H. Laxon and Bro. for economy and smokeless coal for furnaces and airtight heaters. 28d1f Takes the burns out; heals the wound; cures the pain. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, the household remedy.

—There will be work in the Com mandery tomorrow night. There will be candidates for the Templar degrees.

When doctors fail, try Burdock Blood Bitters. Cures dyspepsia, constipation; invigorates the whole system.

—The mother of the negro Hathaway, who was hanged at Winchester on the third, died Saturday as a result of the shock.

—"Diavola," the great evict seen here last September with Sells & Forepaugh circus, has been fatally hurt at Cincinnati.

—If you know anything of interest concerning the past or present history of your town or the county, send it to us. We want it.

—You can get the top price for your corn from Zaring. It's an easy plan to unload and you get your money on the spot. 4ja1m —Kentucky produced 20,000,000 gallons of whiskey last year and shipped out of the State as "genuine" Kentucky whiskey, 75,000,000 gallons.

The little folks love Dr. Wood's Nose-Wee Pine Syrup. Pleasant to take; perfectly harmless; positive cure for colds, croup, bronchitis, asthma.

—Professor H. H. Brock has bought, through Col. D. W. Tribble, the Harver Chevrolet car, on the Lexington pike, for $10,000. The car contains 144 seats.

—The simple class of the Foreign Mission Society will meet this afternoon at 8 o'clock in the lecture room of the First Presbyterian Church.

—There are 100 Kentucky farms to sale, ranging in area from eighty-five to three hundred acres in extent. Price reasonable. Address John M. Wheeler, Winchester, Ky. 18ja2 —See to it, search, search; unable to attend to business during the day or sleep during the night. Peeling piles—horrible plague. Don't's Ointment. Never fails. At any drug store 50 cents.

—We are of your relatives prominent in the unbuilding of this county? Whether they are dead or living it is a duty on one them to have their portrait in this History of Richmond and Madison County. Call and see us.

—Be sure to see Fleming county as that mysterious infernal fire are burning on the farm of J. T. McGinnis. The fire is under an area of near 200 square yards and the ground has sunk about a foot over that space. A dense vapor rises constantly and smells of burning oil.

—We earnestly desire that every subscriber of this paper who is interested in the gigantic enterprise we have undertaken of getting out a history of this county, to submit to us matters of his or her own knowledge that have come under your observation. But they must be authentic.

—In our last issue we published that Messrs. H. H. and R. W. Colver would open up a general mercantile business in the McAnn building, when it should have been the Neale building, next door. Miss Kate Schmidt has moved her millinery stock to the McCann store room.

—Miss Josephine Wagers has been appointed an examiner of Madison County by Judge J. M. Benton. Miss Wagers is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wagers and is a very bright and attractive young woman. Her services as stenographer or examiner can be secured at any time. The CLIMAX wishes her much success in her new field.

—One of the best of plays dealing with life in the sunny South is Little Blair Parker's idyllic drama of reconstruction days in Louisiana, "Under Southern Skies." The play has brought tears and laughter to the eyes of Pittsburgh audiences before, but a better balanced and more dramatic work which is being produced in this city, will be of special interest to all who contemplate going South.

—Mr. Embury believes it will be necessary to make two trips to the market this season and will return to New York in the early spring, when he will purchase an elaborate and extensive stock of goods for the Central Kentucky.

At the Grand Opera House Feb. 18th.

Guarantees Satisfaction
LAUNDRY GOES OUT
Mondays and Wednesdays
Returned
Thursdays and Saturdays Goods Called for and Delivered
Free of Charge
Your Work Solicited
Z. T. RICE, Agent
Office—Rice & Arnold's Shoe Store
Phone 118

—There is a great probability of Lawrenceburg having a New Custom House.

—Mr. Merritt Williams has been assigned to revenue duty in Anderson county.

—A renewed effort, on the part of the women of Lexington, is being made to replace the head on the statue of Henry Clay monument in the Lexington cemetery. This was blown off during a terrific wind and electrical storm seven years ago.

—The House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church has approved Dr. Charles E. Woodcock's selection to the Bishop of Kentucky and his consecration will take place January 25 in Detroit. He will assume formal charge February 1.

—At Paducah the society ladies have made a new resolution for the new year and will discard high heels and, and start a cooking school to occupy their spare time. Suppose the fair maiden citizens try this good thing for a change.

I Mean You.
Please call and settle your account.
11ja1m Jones & Mershon.

Disolved Partnership.
The firm of Stouffer & Mahler have dissolved partnership. Mr. Mahler will continue his tailoring establishment at 111 Main St. Mr. Stouffer will take place of Mr. Mahler in the clothing store, the two being run now as distinct and separate enterprises.

Indepent Buyers.
There are more independent tobacco buyers in the bluegrass counties this season than for several years past, and one Lexington buyer is advertising to secure one million pounds or more—Winchester Democrat.

Office Moved.
Mr. W. S. Moberly has removed his office from over the Farmers National Bank to the Collins Building. The office vacated by Mr. Moberly will be occupied by Judge A. R. Burnam and son who have formed a partnership for the practice of their profession.

Handsome Home Purchased.
Mr. T. H. Collins has purchased the handsome residence on Lancaster avenue, belonging to Mr. J. Stone Walker and now occupied by Mr. M. M. Miller and family. This is one of the most elegant and most desirable pieces of property in the city.

NOTE.
All persons desiring extra copies of our History of Richmond and Madison County to be issued the last of next month, which will be sold at 25 cents each, should send in their orders now. We know how many to order. We guarantee this book to be worth the price asked for it.

Out Again.
It was very gratifying to the many friends of City Collector Tim O'Neill, who is down town last week, after an absence of some duration. There is no more popular officer in city than Mr. O'Neill, who has long been associated with the official duties of the city, serving in the police force and in other capacities.

For Sale.
I desire to sell privately my entire stock of goods and fixtures. My stock consists of groceries and notions, all new, clean stock. The store room occupied by the undersigned can be rented for the ensuing year. A great bargain for any one desiring to go in business. G. A. LOVELL, 18ja2 Richmond, Ky.

W. R. EMBURY

Goets to the East to Make Early Purchases

W. R. Embury, manager and buyer for the garment department of Embury & Co., of Lexington, Ky., left Saturday for New York to make selections from the earliest models in suits, coats, skirts, silk suits and waists, which he will be ready to show before February 1. These early offerings will be of special interest to all who contemplate going South.

Mr. Embury believes it will be necessary to make two trips to the market this season and will return to New York in the early spring, when he will purchase an elaborate and extensive stock of goods for the Central Kentucky.

At the Grand Opera House Feb. 18th.

CUT SUITS AND PRICES ON OVERCOATS

Our big "Get-Cash" Sale just ended was such a pronounced success in every way that we have decided to continue the same reductions on all Suits and Overcoats for both men and boys

The stock while much reduced by heavy selling is still larger than all other Richmond stocks combined, thus affording ample variety to select from

Not a garment reserved—all go in this big sale—the finest and best clothing that tailoring skill can produce at prices in reach of every buyer. Come now and fit yourself out for Christmas. Read these big reductions and be the first to make your choice

$25.00	cut to	$19.00	$15.00	cut to	$12.25
22.50		17.50	12.50		9.85
20.00		16.50	8.00		6.75
18.00		14.75	5.00		3.85

Some broken lots and odds and ends at still greater reductions

Big Savings on Boys' Knee Suits

Extraordinary reduction on all Boys' Knee Suits—all the latest styles included—Norfolks, Buster Browns, double breasted and all the other fashionable things

$7 and 6	cut to	$4.75	$3.50	cut to	$2.75
5.00		3.85	2.50		1.85
4.00		3.25	2.00		1.50

Boys' Overcoats at same reductions

COVINGTON and BANKS

Miss some of the sweet things in life—but don't miss the pleasures of a box of

Sole Agent

Fine things to be sold.

Mr. Robert Walker shipped twenty-four head of number one horses to Cincinnati on Saturday. These horses will be sold today in a special sale. Mr. Walker is a member of the firm of Collins & Walker, and ranks high in "horsemanship," and as a driver and trainer he cannot be beaten. This firm has done much toward keeping this line of business up to the best standard.

Saxton and Trust Again.

Mr. Henry Saxton, band leader, virtuoso, guitar king and in short, "Music Personified," has resigned from the Lexington Military Band and has formed a partnership with Mr. Herman Trost, who is likewise an excellent musician. This is a reunion of old partners and the new organization will be known as Saxton and Trost's Band. Mr. Brown Anderson, who is well known here, will be clarinet soloist for the new band.

Grates Business.

A merchant in a neighboring town states that his advertising last year cost him 24 cents for every $100 worth of goods sold. He used a half-page for his business announcement each week and says as long as people read newspapers he will advertise. There's a man possessed of a good head. Just as soon as merchants begin to look upon advertising as a branch of the business which requires as much care as any part of it, then will advertising pay. Honesty, force, originality and persistence in advertising makes it a paying business.—Ex.

Ready for Navigation.

The following dispatch appeared in the Courier-Journal of January 12: Col. E. H. Ruffner, of the United States Engineers, announced today the completion of lock and dam No. 10, Kentucky river. The contractors finished their work on the construction which has been officially accepted by the Government. Col. Ruffner today declared the lock open to navigation. It is situated 176 miles above the mouth of the Kentucky river, and steamers can now go as far as College Hill, which is twenty-three miles above the dam. This makes the total navigability nearly 200 miles. The lock is 148 feet available length, 32 feet available width and has a lift of 17 feet. The lock and dam and approach walls are all built of concrete.

An Old U. S. Boy in Luck.

Mr. Rodney Kenon, of Harrodsburg, who is pleasantly remembered here as an old U. S. student, has been tendered the position of deputy to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals at the handsome salary of $2,000 per year. Hon. J. Morgan Quinn having tendered the position. Mr. Kenon is a popular young man and has for two years been city attorney of Harrodsburg. It is always gratifying to friends here to have good news of old Central University students, the memory of whom will dwell long with all who knew them. Mr. Kenon has already assumed his new duties. Mr. Merle Smith, another popular student here in the past, has been tipped to succeed Mr. Kenon.

New Military Firm.

Mr. W. F. Powers and Mrs. Elbert Flora have formed a partnership and purchased the entire millinery stock of Mrs. Lee Maupin. The new firm has rented rooms in the John G. Taylor building. They will add to their present stock all the season's latest creations and styles in headgear for women and children. Both members of this firm are well known, and especially Mrs. Flora has had years of experience in the millinery business. As Miss Annie McCollum she was connected with the millinery department of E. V. Elder and later conducted a like establishment of her own. She is herself an expert trimmer and is sure to please her patrons. They have hosts of friends who wish them abundant success.

"The Beauty and the Beast."

The most important attraction of the theatrical season at the Lexington Opera House will be "The Beauty and the Beast," which comes Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 26, 27 and 28. A special matinee will be given Saturday. This magnificent spectacle was the sensation of London and New York and is the most wonderful production that ever left the famous Drury Lane Theatre. There are 150 people in the company which travels exclusively by special train, three cars of which are necessary for the transportation of the scenery and the costumes. The seat and open opera house, January 23, and all orders for seats, if accompanied by remittance, will receive attention. Prices $1.50 to 25 cents. Theatre parties from all the surrounding towns are being arranged to attend these performances. 18ja2

Election of Bank Directors.

On last Tuesday the annual election of directors was held at the various banks. In each case the same directors being re-elected, namely: Richmond National: J. W. Caperton, I. Shelby Irvine, G. W. Pickels, D. W. Irvine and R. W. Miller.

State Bank and Trust Co.: J. Stone Walker, J. A. Sullivan, H. B. Hanger, W. D. Oldham, John R. Gibson, Joe Collins, David Chenault and E. D. Ballard.

Farmers' National: James Bennett, C. F. Burman, S. S. Parkes, W. A. Langford, T. J. Smith, W. Neale Bennett and W. C. Bennett.

Madison National: Waller Bennett, N. B. Deatherage, R. R. Burnam, E. C. Millon, H. B. Dillingham and W. S. Moberly.

The same officers have also been re-elected.

Concerning a Prominent Mason.

Robert Rhodes Burnam, of Richmond, Ky., has the honor of holding at the same time the two most important offices of Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery and Grand High Priest of the Grand Chapter of Kentucky, says the American Tyler. He was elected Grand High Priest a year ago, relinquishing his office at the annual convocation recently. In May last he was chosen Grand Commander of the Commandery, and is working hard toward making the coming Convocation a May grand and brilliant success. Richmond is centrally located and quite a crowd of visiting Knights is expected. Several Commanderies have already secured headquarters and the convocation promises to be a gala one.

A Strong Announcement.

"A Romance of Coon Hollow," now in its seventh season, is a very lively comedy drama with a well told, absorbing story, plenty of fun, and likewise excitement, and when done with a good cast and the necessary scenic environment—as we can safely promise in the case of entertainment now available. The old comedy has been revised and improved, and is now given with entire special new scenery from the hands of Mr. Frank Platzer, of the New York Academy of Music, and besides a dramatic cast of unusual merit. The dramatic cast of unusual merit. The drama is never been excelled as a piece of stage realism and the cotton press is naturally very proud and for which he expresses his gratitude to his friends.

He was elected to his present position in the line of officers of the Grand Lodge at the first ballot, of which he is naturally very proud and for which he expresses his gratitude to his friends.

Bro. Smith is one of a line of prominent Masons. His grandfather, Col. John Speed Smith, was Grand Master of Kentucky in 1822. His son, also John Speed Smith, the uncle at whose request our John Speed Smith was knighted, as before mentioned, became Grand Master of Kentucky in 1883, seventy years after his father, almost paralleling the instance of our W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge, chapter, and commandery, besides those in the grand bodies heretofore enumerated. It was due to the influence and example of this uncle, more than to anything else, that our John Speed Smith has taken such a deep interest in Masonry. Other distinguished relatives prominent in the fraternity may be named, as the late Rev. Green Clay Smith an uncle, formerly a member of Congress from Kentucky, later Governor of Montana by appointment of President Grant, who was an affiliated member of Washington Centennial Lodge, Grand Secretary Frederick Speed, of Mississippi, and East Commander John Smith Speed, of Little Rock, Ark. James Speed, once Attorney General of the United States, and the late Cassius M. Clay, of Kentucky, were also among his kindred.

In June last Bro. Smith conferred the Master Mason's degree on his cousin, John Speed Smith, in Washington Centennial Lodge, No. 25, of Richmond, Ky., which has constantly had a John Speed Smith on its rolls since 1813, on which occasion Grand Secretary Arvine W. Johnston, at the request of Bro. Smith, presented to the newly made eighty years superannuated. The uncle John Speed Smith, who was probably the most widely known Mason in Kentucky in 1883, was also Grand High Priest of Kentucky in 1889, and was Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery at the time of his death, a year or two after the latter date. He originated the enterprise and raised by his personal efforts a large fund for establishing a Masonic Home at Louisville, now progressing satisfactorily and was president of the Masonic Veterans' Association. He had held every office in lodge